HOW TO ENTER

Please print and send the entry for consideration.

ENTRY CRITERIA

Each film entry must be accompanied by a completed entry form and an entry fee. Entries must be submitted on DVD. Please send 2 copies of your film.

All entries will be kept by the Community Food Security Coalition.

There is no limit to the number of films you may enter. There is also no restriction on the date your film was completed. Only films about food will be considered for this festival.

All entries should be received no later than August 24th and mailed to:

Community Food Security Coalition
Attention: Andrea Dudley Hart
3830 SE Division Street
Portland, Oregon 97202

IF CHOSEN

If your film is chosen, you will be notified by September 10th. In the case your film is selected, please have a 300 dpi photograph ready. This photograph will be distributed to the press and for use on the festival website. It probably goes without saying, but the best photos get the best exposure. If your film has a link to a trailer online that is a bonus. If selected a director or representative from the film able to attend their screening is a plus, but not required. We do not offer fee waivers or travel for selected film representatives.

HOW SHOWN & TO WHOM?

As part of the CFSC conference's first annual film festival, you will join 750 of your colleagues in the community food security movement for the nation's primary food systems networking and educational event in Des Moines featuring inspiring presentations, scintillating workshops, fantastic networking opportunities, delectable local eats, and fun field trips around the state. The film festival will run for the length of the conference and will feature thought provoking documentaries and some of the most talked about films in the country.
